

Invocation: Songs for a Sacred Earth

Track 5

"Here, Now"

© Lael Whitehead

Here, now, the wild things grow
Here, now, the soft winds blow
Here, now, the rivers flow
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, the fire burns
Here, now, the dawn returns
Here, now, the spirit years
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, blessed be
This blood and bone, this root and leaf
Here, now, blessed be
This spiral dance of joy and grief

Here, now, the body breathes
Here, now, the heart believes
Here, now, the magic weaves
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, the pain and hunger
Here, now, the hope and wonder
Here, now, the soul's surrender
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, blessed be
These hands that form a sacred ring
Here, now, blessed be
These feet that dance, these hearts that sing

Here, now, the laughing, crying
Here, now, the falling, flying
Here, now, the birth and dying
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, the great sea rolling
Here, now, this tale unfolding
Here, now, this circle holding
Here, now, here, now

Here, now, blessed be
The flowering of the living tree
Here, now, blessed be
This light that flows through you and me